GOVERNOR'S PRETTY AIDE MAKES GOOD; SHUTS UP TOWN*Miss Fern Hobbs Closes Saloons of Oregon Town and Jails Several Officials.

By United Press
CORVALLIS, Ore., Jan. 3.—With all of the saloons closed, the mayor, recorder and three councilmen in jail, Miss Fern Hobbs, the pretty private secretary of the Governor, made good the executive's promise that she would clean the town up between trains.

Miss Hobbs left town on the same train upon which she arrived and after she had arrested the town officials for violation of the liquor laws and turned the government over to Colonel Lawson of the State Penitentiary, together with five militiamen and two assistant wardens.

Colonel Lawson found every man in Corvallis armed and he promptly confiscated all weapons. Attorneys at Biggar where another anti-liquor fight is on, have applied for an injunction to prevent the demolition of saloon fixtures and property but it is feared that the citizens will have accomplished this before the legal instrument is handed down.

Reports had been leaked, he stated, out of various funds. By department, they were as follows: Department of public safety $321; department of streets $249; department of parks and public property $12. Out of the total appropriation of $355 $249 has been expended leaving a balance of $106. The Young Trust company withdrew the fund and the bank named depository of the city funds for the next two years.

There were no reports from the other funds. The contract for erecting grand rail in the town of the East Park bridge was awarded the Keystone Planning Mill Company the lowest bidder, at 87 cents per linear foot for a section of 100 feet. A steel filing cabinet, stationary, numbers and filing machine and printer were ordered. The contract for the lowest bidder in each instance.

Solicitor Higgins read the penal ordinance and it was introduced to the mayor. Another bill an ordinance setting the duties of the city electrician, and fixing his salary at $160 a year was also introduced. The ordinance fixing the salary of the assessor city engineer providing for the registration of titles and creating the police and fire departments were passed. Mayor Marietta voted against the ordinance. The ordinance also provides for a fine of up to $100 for anyone who commits any of the offenses listed in the ordinance.

WANTS CONGRESS TO PROTECT RADIUM*As Cancer Cure.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—The medical discovery that radium may prove efficient as a remedy for cancer has prompted Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the interior, to ask Congress to pass a law protecting the radium. The discovery was made by a Frenchman, who has been granted a patent for his discovery. The discovery is of great importance to the medical world, as cancer is one of the most common and deadly diseases. Backed up against his automobile, President Wilson received the coteries of correspondents as soon as he arrived on shore. He was evidently much pleased with the conference, for when he had finished his remarks for the past few days, he was now in high spirits and looked and joked over his shoulder with those of the correspondents that he knew best. He asked not to be quoted but he did not mind being mentioned in the belief that the elimination of Huerta is the only solution of the Mexican problem.

It is understood that Lind explained that the financial situation in Mexico is dangerously near a climax. The president, however, would not answer a question as to whether he was hopeful now of a settlement of the difficulty that had been before him. Lind did not relish his banishment to Mexico. He admitted that while he was not actually enjoying it, he was thoroughly interested in the work and was willing to do his best and has no intention of relinquishing his mission.

Nothing was said on the question of lifting the embargo on arms and recognized the revolutionaries, though he was admitted that as an abstract proposition it had been discussed. Lind will not go back to Mexico. City but will establish his headquarters at Vera Cruz. The president mentioned to the Gulfport links and had a game of golf immediately after his meeting with the newspapermen.

EXPLODES RADIUM THEORY
Minnesota Scientist Denies Theory of Big Deep Sea Deposits.
By United Press
MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 3.—"Absolute" science says this. This was the comment today by Professor A. J. Kovarik of the University of Minnesota on the statement of Professor Harry Jones of Johns Hopkins University that a million tons of radium could be found at the bottom of the sea.

Professor Kovarik, one of the world's leading students of the physics of radium and a teacher in the physics department at the University of Minnesota, declared that he did not think his fellow professor meant to convey the impression widely received, that a million tons or any other large amount of radium lay available at the bottom of the sea.

WILSON PLEASED OVER CONFERENCE; POLICY THE SAME*President in High Spirits After Long Talk With John Lind.*FORCE IS NOT CONSIDERED*Huerta Must Go But Armed Intervention Will Not Take Place of Diplomacy and Financial Boycott; Lind to Vera Cruz, Not to Mexico City.

By United Press
GULFPORT, Miss., Jan. 3.—The Wilson Mexican policy remains unchanged, it was stated this morning after the President's long conference with Special Envoy John Lind. Huerta must go and what he does there can be no hope of the modification of the administration's plan of dealing with the Mexican situation.

Standing on the platform of the railroad station here, the President ended for all time the sensational stories that he had decided to change his policy, substituting force for diplomacy and financial boycott. Lind will start back to Mexico this afternoon. The President intimated that "much ado about nothing" had been made over his visit. The only consolation for it was the statement that it is much easier to cover ground in a personal conversation than over telephone wires. As expressed by the President, his three hours' conference with Lind on the deck of the steamer Chesapeake cleared up many misconceptions and ended the long controversy by thousands of newspapers.

The President arrived with him in his automobile the two sons of Lind and in turning them over to the captain of the revenue cutter Wilkes he asked that their visit to their father be finished as soon as possible in order that the conference might begin. Backed up against his automobile, President Wilson received the coteries of correspondents as soon as he arrived on shore. He was evidently much pleased with the conference, for when he had finished his remarks for the past few days, he was now in high spirits and looked and joked over his shoulder with those of the correspondents that he knew best.

THOMPSON BUYS COAL

Acquires 266 Acres Along Buckhannon & Northern Line.
MORGANTOWN, Jan. 3.—Extensive deals by J. Edgar Thompson for Monongahela county coal, especially on the west side of the Monongahela river along the line of the Buckhannon & Northern railroad, are revealed in deeds of sale placed on record in the county clerk's office. Deeds have been filed showing the purchase by Mr. Thompson of an aggregate acreage of 266 acres in Cass district on or near the river.

The price paid for the coal was in the neighborhood of $700 an acre although the consideration is not given in many of the deeds. In all of the cases the grants are for the Pittsburgh coal alone, except that in one instance the Mapletown or Sawickley coal is included in a small tract.

MAYOR WARNS OFFENDERS OF STIFF SENTENCES TO COME

Tells Them He Will Soon Have Greater Power; Taken Care of Men With John.
Mayor Rockwell Marietta conducted the first police hearings since Tuesday morning, today. He returned to town last evening and arranged to hold court after council meeting but it was almost 11 o'clock when the session adjourned and he postponed it until this morning.

During the interval between hearings, prisoners were discharged on their own recognizance or upon paying forfeits for future appearance. Three that had been in since Thursday night were released by the Mayor and only one was committed.

The mayor warned all of those that when they come back again he will be armed with authority to dole out much more severe sentences under the ordinance offered at last night's meeting of council. One thing that spectators notice in police court is that offenders who declare that they have jobs are not committed by the mayor. Jobs are so scarce these days that he does not want to cause anyone to lose one.

WOMEN VOTE WET

California "Drys" Give Rude Shock by the Return.
SAN LUIS OBISPO, Cal., Jan. 3.—Voters in a ballot election, offering an interesting commentary on woman's suffrage in one California city, San Luis Obispo, today voted 1432 "wet" and 1132 "dry."

Two years ago, after a desperate fight the "wets" carried the city by a narrow majority of 88 votes. Since that election, women in California have been enfranchised and the prohibition element approached the polls December 9 confident that women voters would put an end to the "wet" scandalous that dated from the Spanish days of California.

The count of the votes, however, provided a surprise for both factions. Not even the most ardent liquor supporters expected the overwhelming defeat of the "dry" forces which was accomplished with a margin of 408 votes.

The price paid for the coal was in the neighborhood of $700 an acre although the consideration is not given in many of the deeds. In all of the cases the grants are for the Pittsburgh coal alone, except that in one instance the Mapletown or Sawickley coal is included in a small tract.

NO PASS RULING

"GREAT WHITE WAY" PLAN IS REVIVED BY COMMERCE CHAMBER*"Young Blood" Directors Say They Will Go On With It.*THEY WANT PEDESTAL LIGHTS*Ornamental Lamps to Supplement the Arcs in Downtown Section is Their Aim; Co-Operation of City Council Will be Asked in Near Future.

One of the civic improvement plans under consideration by the Chamber of Commerce is the revival of the "Great White Way" which has been discussed a number of times but never realized. The present board of directors feels that there is no reason why Main street and a portion of Pittsburgh street should not be lighted by a system of ornamental lamps, set at short distances along the curb. These columns are made in different styles, but that adopted by most municipalities has five lights extending from the top. Their efficiency in lighting a street is undisputed and their superiority over the present arc lights is not questioned. The initial cost of these columns is said to be about $40, whether electricity or gas is used for current, and their maintenance would be comparatively inexpensive. It is declared that such a system would be less expensive to maintain than the present arc lights, though the arc lights would necessarily have to be replaced outside of the business section. It is predicted that this time the "Great White Way" movement will become a reality, for the new board means business and many of the obstacles which prevented such a system from being adopted no longer exist. The co-operation of the city council is believed to be assured.

Two of those electors have been placed by individuals on Main street, one in front of the Smith House and the other at the Arcade Theatre, and the Fayette County Gas Company has one in front of the Masonic Temple, all of which are giving satisfaction. The "Great White Way," however, would require them to be uniform and placed at proper intervals along the streets.

Because it's for One Thing Only, and Connelville People Appreciate This. Nothing can be good for everything. Doing one thing well brings success.

Poon's Kidney Pills are for one thing only. For weak or disordered kidneys. Here is reliable evidence of their worth.

Mrs. M. J. Harver, 502 Marger St., Scottsdale, Pa. says: "One of our family suffered with kidney disease for years and it seemed as though there was nothing to help her. She complained so much of her back and it was very hard for her to get up and down. She had frequent severe headaches and spots appeared before her eyes. She finally began using Poon's Kidney Pills and they helped her from the first. The pains soon left and she was cured."

It is expected that there will be a meeting but not one in which the new council will be put to work as has been the annual custom. One of the members says that it is impossible for the entire body to meet at the time specified, but that there will be some present and adjournment will then be taken until the evening, when the usual meeting will take place. There may be some changes in the municipal government at that time, but it is all problematical. The new members to take hold will be P. D. Dills from the first ward, John Gault from the second ward, J. W. Fitzsimmons and Ralph Stoner from the third ward. Those who will remain are President W. L. Schaffer, M. L. Hanes, O. M. Jarrett and H. Springer. In the first ward H. G. Martin was re-elected and J. E. Tinsman is a hold over member. In the second ward J. F. Harty was re-elected and Arthur W. Schaffer is a hold over. In the third ward W. W. Hines is the hold over and in the fourth ward William Butler and W. T. Massey were re-elected and Roy Baker is the hold over.

Hon. W. Schaffer, Porter who succeeds R. F. Hines as clerk took the oath of office on New Year's day before Justice of the Peace S. R. Rutherford. Mr. Porter went to the office at 11:45 that morning and there were only the new bureau present when the oath was taken.

HOME FROM DETROIT.
At 10:30 P. M. it is home from Detroit, Mich. while visiting with a sister, Mrs. Adam Koch, of Haverly. Mr. Koch was engaged in concrete work while in Detroit and saw that it is wonderful to what extent concrete is being used for building purposes in that city. He was engaged on one building 500 feet long and 75 feet wide three stories in height built entirely including roof of concrete. All the houses are being built of concrete, he says, and everything is made fireproof. Mr. Koch says that concrete is rapidly becoming the place in the great building material in that section.

On Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock there will be a meeting for women by Miss Corpe. On Thursday, Friday and Saturday afternoons at 2:30 o'clock Bible lectures will be given by Professor Brooks. A number of the local merchants are closing their stores early so that their clerks may attend the services. These merchants were thanked last evening by Doctor Hall.

The school teachers are back and school will open on Monday morning following a three week vacation. The following officers were elected to serve for the coming term by the Ladies' Circle of the Grand Army of the Republic: President, Mrs. Lillian Greene; senior vice, Mrs. Doran McCracken; junior vice, Mrs. Nancy Thomas; Chaplin, Lucinda Miller; conductor, Annabel Workman; treasurer, Margaret Miller; and Sarah Rhaw, and assistant guard, Mrs. Mary Thomas.

High Praise for Baer's Emulsion.

His Wife Used Several Remedies But Got No Benefit Until She Took Baer's Great Emulsion.

John D. Baer, Elkton, Va.
Dear Sir—Last winter my wife took a very severe attack of grippe, which left her with a very bad cough. For a month I could see she was gradually getting weaker and losing flesh. During the time she tried several different remedies but none did a particle of good until I bought a bottle of Baer's Emulsion. In three days my wife began to improve and after taking three bottles she was much stronger and weighed more than she had for seven years. It gives me much pleasure to recommend your preparation, and I shall never be able to praise it to anyone. Yours very truly, J. T. Naylor.

BIGGEST OF INDIAN LAND SCANDALS

Paving the Way for Sweeping Inquiry Into Alleged Theft.

WHISKY BAIT OF DESPOILERS

Property Valued at a Billion Dollars Stolen in One State Alone, Says United States Commissioner Sells. Criminal Prosecutions to Follow.

On the eve of leaving Washington to look into the relations of the government with the Indians of the west, Commissioner Sells announced his program as follows:

A series of conferences with those in control of Indian affairs, at which the condition of the Indians will be investigated.

Criminal prosecution of those who have robbed the red men, the big leaders to be called to the attention of the attorney general, the small offenders to be dealt with by local grand juries.

Compilation of facts for presentation to congress, with a request for drastic legislation to safeguard the health and wealth of the Indian.

Enactment of plans for the control of the liquor traffic.

Commissioner Sells plans to recover from embroilers the millions of dollars which he asserts the red men have lost to land sharks. If he carries out his program there will be the most sensational prosecution, on a wider scale and involving more money than have ever been known in the history of Indian prosecutions in the department of justice.

Whiskey the Indian's Nemesis.

The value of Indian property is estimated at nearly a billion dollars in one state alone and as there has been no report from those in charge of these estates for years it is expected that the shakedown may affect a great many important persons.

"The investigations," said Commissioner Sells, "which I am to make will be largely at Denver where I am to meet thirty special officers and clerks who will report on what they have done to suppress the liquor traffic which is virtually at the root of a great deal of the misfortune attending the Indians."

"From there I will go to Muskogee, Okla. where I will have a general conference with the county judges of the forty counties in which there are Indian tribes with the attorneys of the tribes and with a number of attorneys whom I will appoint. These latter are to look into the cases of all known estates of the richest Indians in America which have been dissipated and the heirs impoverished."

"We know of cases in which these estates have been reduced to nothing while some responsible persons have either absconded or cannot be reached by civil process for the return of the fortunes they have taken illegally from the Indian children."

"Wherever we find that men cannot be reached by civil process we will refer the guilty persons to the attorney general for prosecution. Minor cases we can perhaps handle by reference to the local grand jury."

New Laws to Be Recommended.

"Of course out of all this will come recommendations for specific legislation that will make such things impossible in the future, and we expect congress to pass the legislation."

"We propose to make it necessary that persons having charge of what ought to be the vast estates of the wards of the nation shall make monthly reports. We shall systematize our ways of dealing with the Indians and we propose to institute the return immediately. We shall remove guardians immediately who are unworthy and will endeavor to restore in whatever way possible the property that has been stolen."

"The regulation of the liquor traffic lies to a great extent at the bottom of the morals of the case, and we expect great and substantial good to come out of our general conferences on that subject at Denver."

WIRELESS WORRIES BIRDS.

Electric Waves Seem to Dull Their Sense of Direction.

Since the British coast began to be studded with wireless stations it has been noticed that the birds do not seem very happy about it. In the neighborhood of a wireless station birds seem to be vaguely disturbed and uneasy, guilts being the chief sufferers.

And when the line of a pigeon race flew over or near a wireless station it has been noticed that an unusual number of birds fail to find their way home. The wireless waves in the air seem to interfere with the sense of direction.

The cause has not been definitely settled, but there is no doubt that birds and animals both are far more sensitive to mysterious vibrations of the air than human beings are. Horses and monkeys in earthquake lands tremble with fear hours before an earthquake arrives.

It has been suggested that animals and birds have a sixth, or "electric" sense and are in touch with the ether, that mysterious fluid which scientists declare to pervade everything in the universe on earth and in the air. It is by waves in the ether that wireless travels.

So when the wireless waves start interfering with the ordinary waves of the ether, such as those along which light travels, the birds lose their little heads and forget their way.—London Answer.

THE "WINTER WHITE HOUSE."

Home of Many Aristocratic Families and Famous For Hospitality.

The "Winter White House" at Pass Christian, Miss., occupied by President Wilson for a vacation, is a historic home of the coast and has been the abode of many prominent personages in its day. It was built in 1854 by John Backe a wealthy bachelor, who made it his home for a number of years, after which he sold it to George Jones, then president of the New Orleans Canal bank, and was by him and family occupied as a summer home until 1898, when the late General W. S. Harney, the famous Indian fighter and veteran of both the Mexican and civil wars, purchased and occupied it until his death.

During his occupancy he had frequently for his guests Colonel Edward George Washington Butler and his wife, the latter being a niece of Nellie Custis, and many other prominent people of the north and south, as General Harney was a lavish entertainer, and his hospitable home was ever open to his friends.

It Would Be Proper.

"Would you" her inquisitive friend asked, "speak to a man without an introduction?"

"Well, I might. If, for instance, I were to squirt my grapefruit juice in his eyes I should certainly ask his pardon."—Chicago Record Herald.

WOMEN IN THE MIDDLE AGES.

They Held Office and Could More Than Hold Their Own in Trade.

Women in England have always shared in the industrial life of the nation. Curiously enough, writes Mr. A. Abrams in "English Life and Manners in the Later Middle Ages," a statute of 1383 that ordered men to keep to one trade left women free to practice as many as she chose.

In a few instances, at least, women in the later middle ages discharged duties and held offices that do not fall to their lot nowadays. There are allusions to women burghesses in the records of London and other towns, and if women married aliens they could naturalize them.

Women did not shrink from engaging in foreign commerce. They exported goods to France, Spain and other countries. A widow, Margery Russell of Coventry, is mentioned in no less than three different existing documents. Her business must have been on a fairly large scale, for she was robbed of merchandise worth £800 by some men of Santander, in Spain, in order to recoup herself for her losses she obtained letters of marque that empowered her to seize the goods belonging to countrymen of the offenders.

Margery apparently took more than was due her, for two Spanish merchants lodged complaints against her. She was ordered to restore both ships, but one of the Spaniards declared that she had refused to do so, although he had a commission directed to the effect that Margery Russell was a type woman trader of the middle ages were well able to look after themselves.

ORIGIN OF PERFUMES.

Used at First to Kill the Odors of Burning Flesh.

In the good old times the use of perfumes was originated to counteract the offensive odors arising from burning flesh which was being offered as a sacrifice. For this reason incense was always burned in the temples, and from that burning came the literal significance of the word incense, which means "through the smoke."

Arabia has always been the land of perfumes, the "scents of Arabia" being classic. Lady Macbeth refers to "the perfumes of Arabia" in her sleep walking agony when she fancies she cannot wash the smell of Duncan's blood from her hand.

While Arabia has most of the fame, it is undoubtedly a fact that to Egypt belongs most of the credit, for the art of perfuming was practiced there to its fullest extent. Even the embalmed dead were saturated with spices and scents which have retained their delightful aroma after thousands of years. It was from old Egypt that the Greeks and Romans learned the use of the still for extracting perfumes from plants and flowers. To this Roman love for perfumes no doubt as much as to her own habits was due the fact that Cleopatra's barge was so overwhelmingly scented. Shakespeare describes it with:

Purple the sails and so perfumed that The winds were lovesick with them.—Philadelphia Record.

Consolation.

A victim to hysterical grief over the death of her husband after forty years of an exceptionally happy wedded life, a grand old lady, who was sitting in her rocking chair mourning and weeping.

Little Robert (escaping from the usual watchful care of his nurse, "Aunt Mandy Sanderson," negroes of 300 pounds or more, black as anything human could be, and a complete anthesis to the refined, gracious and delicate grand old lady, whose grief her grandson would try to assuage): "Please don't cry so, granddaddy," he pleaded, as he passed his little hand over her gray locks and with boundless sympathy in his tones. "I'm sure you can get another husband very soon. Why, even Aunt Mandy Sanderson had seven of them!"—New York Sun.

Senseless Expenditures.

Standing on the platform that a billion dollars is spent every year by the people of the United States on indulgences which are not really pleasurable and, besides, do positive physical and moral harm, the American Society For Thrift proposes to establish branches in every large and small city. If useless and senseless expenditures can be cut out more money will be left for things that are sensible and useful.—New York Times.

For the Children

The Little Princess Ingrid of Sweden.

Even though seated on her papa's knee the modest little lady in the picture looks a wee bit afraid. Perhaps she isn't used to having her picture taken and was wondering what was going to happen. The lady is Princess Ingrid Victoria, daughter of Crown Prince Gustavus Adolphus of Sweden. She gets part of her name from her aunt-grandmother who was Queen Victoria of England. Her mother's name is Margaret, and she is the daughter of the Duke of Connaught, the present governor general of Canada. So you see this young lady is highly connected. Not that she pays much attention to those things at present, for she is only a little over three years old. Perhaps when she grows up she may be a queen, but she need not be envied on that account. Kings and queens are often unhappy persons.

For a Rainy Day.

"Oh, dear! What shall we do this long rainy afternoon?" pouted Frank as he and his sister left the lunch table and made their way to the nursery.

"You have plenty of toys," answered mother.

"We've played with them all until we are tired," said sister. "I want something new and exciting."

Then mother suggested, "Take your scissors and cut out all the men and women you see in these pictures."

From the top shelf of the closet she got down a lot of old magazines, and the children went to work with a vim. Frank cut out the men and children and Lulu the women, and before they knew it the afternoon was over, and they agreed that it had passed pleasantly.

"Now," said mother, "we will put these cut out pictures aside until the next rainy afternoon, and then we will paste standers on the backs of your paper dolls, and then you'll be ready for real fun."

"Do one now, please, just to show us," urged Frank.

So mother cut an inch strip of cardboard an inch longer than the length of the picture. The inch over she bent at the bend for the right angle, and of the top inch she pasted to the top of the doll. This allowed the dolls to stand quite firmly and to be moved around and handled.

Fun With Apples.

There are many childish superstitions alive about apple parings. The most popular among young folks is the paring a large apple in one piece and then throwing the entire paring over the left shoulder. When the skin falls to the ground it will form an initial, and that initial will be the beginning of your future lover's name. Some say a good way to discover which one of two sweethearts loves you the best is to name two apple seeds and place one on each eyelid. The one that sticks on the longest is the true and consistent lover. Whether these be true or not, they are lots of fun when young folks are assembled and apples form the refreshment.

About Postage Stamps.

The postage stamp first made its appearance in 1532. Its inventor was James Chalmers, a printer of Dundee, who died in 1833. England adopted the adhesive stamp in 1839 and issued the first stamps for the use of the public in 1840. A year later stamps were introduced into the United States and Switzerland and soon afterward made their appearance in France, Belgium and Bavaria.

The City of the Prophet. Above is the name often given to Medina, a city in Arabia, where Mohammed took refuge after his flight from Mecca. This flight is known in history as the Hujra, and is an important epoch in chronology, taking place on Sept. 12, 622 A. D. The tomb of Mohammed is at Medina.

King Winter. Oh, I am the friend of the boys and girls! I am the fellow they love. When there's plenty of frost on the earth below And plenty of sunshine above To see them look for the frozen pond, All ready for skate and slide To me they turn with their sleds so swift For a coasting hill so wide.

I deck the trees with a fringe so bright That they're a jester in sun or shade And I scatter my snowflakes in the air Till they fill each valley and glade, And climbing up the mountain top Each shrub and tree I crown And I spread the whitest of covers o'er The ground so barren and brown.

The President Plays Golf.

No doubt every golfer would like to know what kind of a game President Wilson plays. Is it good, medium or "punk"? Well, even the best informed golfers of the Washington club do not know or will not tell anything about the president's game. He plays well enough to get enjoyment out of it, and he gets the recreation that it affords. He likes the course and everything connected with it. The perfect freedom he enjoys makes it an ideal country club for him. Occasionally Mrs. Wilson goes out with him and sits on the veranda while he plays, or one of his daughters makes the round with him, but generally his match is with Dr. Cary Grayson, U. S. N., who is his constant companion wherever he goes.—Arthur Wallace Dunn in Leslie's.

An Armless Artist.

"Loving once said that 'if Raphael had been born without arms he would nevertheless have been a great painter' and we are reminded of the queer phrase by the appearance on the stage of a Berlin theater of an armless artist. He challenges our wonder and admiration. His performance is a great lesson to those who hesitate in the face of ordinary obstacles. The pictures this genius produces are made with pencil or brush held by the teeth and guided by the head's motions. Landscapes, portraits and still life pictures are made in this way, and while they may not be in the academy class, they are more wonderful than many works which aspire to that distinction."—New York Tribune.

Not Very Funny.

"I did my best to be entertaining," said the young man in a voice of sorrow.

"Did you succeed?" "I'm afraid not. I recited Hamlet's soliloquy. She looked at me reproachfully for several seconds and then exclaimed, 'I don't think that's very funny.'"—London Telegraph.

At the Theatres.

THE SOISSON.

"THE NEW HIGH ROLLERS." A treat is in store for burlesque lovers when the famous High Rollers Big Show comes to the Soisson Theatre Friday, January 9. The announcement alone that this popular organization of girls and fun is booked here should be sufficient to insure packed houses, but never before has the company offered so many novel features as during the present season. The company comprises a cast of 13, mostly shapely and pretty chorus girls. The comedians have been carefully selected and are well known in burlesque and musical comedy circles. Among them are Dave Meyers, Hebrew comedian; Ben Turpin, Irish funmaker, and Eddie Johnson, the West. Burlesque of burlesque. The leading feminine roles are assumed by Anna Golden, prima donna; Ida Stanley, ingenue, and Tiny Allen, soprano. "A Night in Paris" is the title of the opening part and "At the Cafe Rector" brings the performance to a close. In both catchy musical numbers abound, all interpreted by the beautiful young women of the chorus.

"JOHN SIMPKINS." The attraction at the Soisson Theatre, matinee and night, Saturday, January 10, will be the "Joshua Simpkins" company. It is a strong ural comedy drama, opening with a comic scene of rural home life, showing Skinner Tavern with Uncle Josh's Briar Farm in the distance. The play progresses, abounding in interesting situations until a climax is reached. In the third act, when a human being is helplessly bound to a log to be cut in twain by a mammoth buzz saw, and is only saved by the timely arrival of Uncle Josh. "Joshua Simpkins" was written with a view of keeping an audience thoroughly amused, and it fully carries out the author's intention. The plot is not allowed to interfere with the comedy parts to any extent, thus producing a play that is thrillingly interesting and said to contain many laughs. The company carries its own special scenery.
